

"QUALITY OUTLASTS BARGAINS."

Money talks, and the price of a Vehicle proclaims to any observing person the status of that Vehicle from the standpoint of quality. A dollar buys just one dollar's value, and the farmer who pays a few dollars less for a Buggy that slightly resembles one of our High Point Buggies does not save the difference. Instead he sacrifices just that much in quality, service and durability. The sad part of the sacrifice is that it is seen and felt every day the Vehicle is used as long as he owns it.

The difference in price is usually slight; the difference in value is always great. The farmer who buys a cheap Buggy does not particularly need the few dollars saving. But he believes that the Buggy that is priced high is bringing an exorbitant profit.

Be Wise—Invest for the future. If you bought one of those ten farms we advertised last week you would want the one most highly improved for lasting results. Also, the man who invests in a Buggy is not buying for a single season. Ordinarily he would expect to use it for several years. The price he pays is the initial investment. If he invests in a well-known, time-tried and fair-priced article he will reap the quality dividends that have been built into that article. The recollection of quality remains long after the price is forgotten.

Four years ago (Aug. 18) we sold Mr. W. M. Broom, West Union, S. C., one of Oconee's most progressive farmers, a High Point Buggy for $95. The other day he came in and we offered him $60 for this buggy. He refused, saying, "I think I can sell it for more to another man." It amused and pleased us very much. This is not an isolated case. Scores of men all over our county prefer High Point Buggies, because they last longer, ride easier and look better.

Only yesterday another one of our customers told the writer that, after using his High Point Buggy for six years, he would not take less than for $25 for it.

Now, these men are not Buggy Salesmen. They are farmers buying their goods where they can get the most quality out of their money, and not the most goods for least money. Yes, there is a wonderful difference.

Let us have a personal talk with you before you buy.

Dr. Geo. Clarence Probst died last Saturday, July 7th, after a long illness. More than four years ago he was stricken with a form of paralysis which rendered him practically helpless, and for the past two years almost unable to speak. Dr. Probst was a son of the late Rev. John F. and Anna Rebecca Probst, who for many years resided in Walhalla, the former having at one time been numbered among the early pastors of St. John's Lutheran church. Rev. and Mrs. Probst had three children: Geo. C., Miss Carrie L., who married John C. Tiedeman, of Charleston, and Rev. L. K. Probst, D. D., of Baltimore, Md. Dr. Probst was born at Smithsburg, Md., on March 1, 1856, and was therefore, a little more than 61 years of age. Mrs. Tiedeman died several years ago. Dr. Probst received his education in the public schools, with a later period of study in Pennsylvania College, at Gettysburg. For many years he was engaged in railway work, being a telegrapher and holding several positions in this and other States until the late eighties, when he began the study of dentistry, graduating from the dental department of the University of Maryland in 1892. He practiced his profession at several points in this and other States, and at the time of his last illness was engaged in it, though his health for some time prior to his giving up his practice was such as to render regular practice impossible. It was while on a professional visit to the Salem section of this county that the first stroke of partial paralysis came, and he returned to Walhalla incapacitated for further practice.

On October 2d, 1884, he was happily married to Miss Lillian A. Steck, at Newberry, who, with two daughters, survives him. Dr. Probst was a consistent member of the church, and in early life he was confirmed in the Lutheran church, but in later life he identified himself with the Presbyterian church, and at the time of his death was a deacon in the church at Walhalla. He was a member of Walhalla Lodge, No. 67, Knights of Pythias. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon last at 5 o'clock from the residence of R. T. Jaynes, Esq., Rev. W. H. Hamilton, of the Presbyterian church, conducting the service at the house, followed by the reading of the Pythian burial service at the grave and the benediction by Rev. Mr. Hamilton. There are many friends of the bereaved ones who will join with us in extending to them sympathy in their sorrow.

There are not a few who will be interested in the following announcement, which comes to us from Washington, D. C.: "Married, on June 25th, 1917, at 9 o'clock a. m., in St. Aloysius church, Miss Kathryn R. Abernethy and Elbert B. Dwyer." The bride is a young lady who as a child resided in Walhalla for a number of years. She is a daughter of Mrs. Mary R. Abernethy, who before her marriage was Miss Leopold. We join with other friends in wishing for the bride every joy and happiness, and we extend to the groom sincere congratulations.

W. J. O. Ray, of Walhalla R. F. D. No. 3, brought to us on the 5th a cotton bloom taken from a 10-acre field of his, which he reports as in fine condition and promising well as to yield, etc. Two acres of this field, he says, was somewhat damaged by the cotton louse, which gained unusual headway on account of the late and wet, cold spring. T at part damaged by this pest, however, is recuperating rapidly and Mr. Ray believes that he will have a fair yield of staple even from this. Mr. Ray incidentally left with us a sample of his fine June apples, which were indeed appreciated, being among the best we have seen this year.

Our good friend, W. E. Smith, of Salem, has our thanks for a treat in the way of a quantity of fine June apples, which he brought to us last week. A prettier or more deeply appreciated "set-up" could not have been presented to us than was the peck of beautiful red Carolina June apples—every one a picture in itself, and perfect in formation and coloring. W. E. Smith knows how to grow apples, and he knows, too, how to please his friends. Again thanks.

Come right along. Don't be backward.

The sincere sympathy of many friends goes out to the bereaved ones in their sorrow.

He was honorably discharged several years ago, since which time he has been engaged in mill work at various points. He has now been at Greer for some time, where he is doing well.

Mrs. Susan Hoize died suddenly Tuesday morning of this week at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Thode, with whom she had made her home for a long time. The deceased was about 76 years of age, and had been in failing health for quite a long while, suffering from epilepsy and having also had several attacks of partial paralysis. Her death was due to the effects of this long-standing trouble. Mrs. Hodge was a good woman, in poor circumstances and occupying a humble sphere, yet she was well thought of by the many who knew her well. She is survived by one son, William Hodge, a railway engineer by occupation, who now resides at Fitzgerald, Ga., and who is at present in poor health, suffering from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. There are many who will learn with regret of the death of Mrs. Hodge. She had given good service in the sick room and in other capacities in many families of Walhalla in years past, and was widely known for her kindness of heart and willingness to do for others. Funeral services will be held to-day at 2 o'clock p. m., and the interment will be in St. John's Lutheran cemetery. Rev. W. B. Aull will conduct the services.

On Friday, July 6, the Walhalla Chapter of the D. A. R., met at the home of Mrs. F. E. Harrison. Mesdames Hayne Jones, Robt. Sifford, H. R. Hughes and Miss Janie Harrison were hostesses. The home was beautifully decorated with Stars and Stripes and with cut flowers of our national colors. The guests were received at the door by Miss Harrison. In the reception hall was an artistic booth representing a Red Cross tent, from which delicious punch was served by a Red Cross nurse, who, upon close observing, one recognized to be Miss Carrie Darby Harrison. Those answering to roll call were Mesdames J. H. Darby, J. W. Bell, Hayne Jones, Robert Sifford, W. D. Moss, W. F. Milam, L. M. Brown, W. F. Hughes; Misses Eloise Strother, Georgie Vandiviere, Janie Harrison and Anna Stribling. The following program was rendered: "Current events in D. A. R. circles," Miss Vandiviere; "Francis Marion, the Soldier," Miss Anna Stribling; "Francis Marion, the Man," paper written by Mrs. W. L. Verner and read by Mrs. J. W. Bell; reading, Mrs. W. D. Moss. The chapter discussed the advisability of doing war relief work. Each member present expressed a desire to do her bit. The chapter voted to join some other club in the Red Cross work. After the chapter adjourned the guests enjoyed a delightful social hour, during which they were served an ice course. The national colors were in evidence throughout. Small silk flags were given as souvenirs.
